Fall Announcement And Opening

THE FALL OPENING of 1911 will be held THURSDAY FRIDAY and SATURDAY, 14th, 15th and 16th inst.

Our big, truthful portrayals of the correct fashion tendencies of the season are invaluable to every lady who desires to be stylishly dressed. It is a splendid exhibit—pleasing to the sense of the beautiful—and affording correct first-hand fashion information that you would not part with for the world.

New Season's Millinery

A SPECIAL FEATURE OF THE OPENING

There is certainly a dazzling array of the new season's most desirable shapes. We describe three as follows, but certainly a visit is preferable to any description we can print.

SMALL SHAPE WITH POINTED SUGAR LOAF CROWN and narrow brim turned up in bolero effect to display velvet facing. Crown is covered with six rows of black silk fringe, large two-tined wing in black and king blue posed at left side forms the sole trimming.

VOLUMINOUS DRESS HAT

In old satin faced with black velvet. Flat dome crown and broad brim. The brim forms a high waltz shoe at the back which kept close to the crown; at the front this roll is narrower, flattening out into a mere dent at the side. An exquisite coronet of black uncurled ostrich feathers and black panne velvet band around crown with a large wing at back constitutes the trimming.

TOO GREAT ANXIETY DEFEATS THE PURPOSE

How often it happens that the purpose is defeated by too great anxiety.

In the dominion election Oliver's position is such that he performs must win, no matter by what means. His whole future, almost his whole welfare hung on this election. Metaphorically, if not literally, he would be back driving the ox team if he lost. So, let the methods be what they may, he must win.

But in his anxiety he has already defeated his purpose, for even though he should carry the constituency there is already sufficient irregularity to invalidate the election on half a dozen counts, if not to disqualify him altogether. The returning officer's possession of the ballot boxes ahead of the time when they should be in his hands, his possession of boxes which do not comply with the law, the consignment of these improper boxes to the hands of deputy returning officers, alone constitute points on each one of which the election could be upset, and the proof of which it is not necessary for the opponents of Oliver to establish as they have already been established under oath by the returning officer himself.

If Oliver wins, which is by means certain, it will do him little good, as the conservatives would not be so foolish as to allow him to hold the constituency, the alleged favor of which he had captured by the methods which he is pursuing.

By a strict interpretation of the law anyone of the Oliver phalanx who has been guilty of having in his possession ballot boxes which did not comply with the requirements set out in the election act are open to indictment and might be prosecuted with a possible sentence of five years. If the conservatives in this case were actuated by personal animosity to the same extent that Oliver was when he attacked the Alberta government not only would Oliver's election—if he is elected—be upset, but there would be others who would be put where the canines would not have a chance to tear their clothing.

MUNICIPAL GAS THE ONLY SOLUTION

After five years more or less of trifling with the gas question the city council has finally arrived at the place where the ratepayers are to be given a chance to say whether or not they want municipal gas.

In the form in which the question is submitted municipal gas is projected into the race for favor with a handicap against it in the respect that having carried the plebiscite by no matter what majority it will still be necessary to pass a money bylaw for the purposes of installing the plant.

In spite of this handicap, however, there is little doubt that the ratepayers will record their votes in favor of municipal gas and that the city will get a gas plant municipally owned at as early a date as is possible under the circumstances. There has been altogether too much trifling with this gas business and the correct way to settle the whole matter is to send all the franchise-hunting promoters about their business and build the plant as a municipal enterprise.

Unless the franchise was of great value these promoters would not be so much trouble to try to gain possession of it. If it is as valuable as their actions indicate the city cannot afford to give it away, least of all for no consideration, as was attempted in the last case.

Municipal gas is the only solution.

CITY LOSES A VALUABLE OFFICIAL

By the resignation of Commissioner Agar the city loses the services of a valuable official and one with whom the ratepayers should regret to part.

Mr. Agar did not bring into the city hall any extensive experience in municipal management, but it must be said in his favor that he made no claims to such and that it was only through a desire to serve the city that he accepted a position which meant no advantage to him and could not fail to cause him loss of opportunity if not actual financial loss. Mr. Agar brought to the city hall a plain, ordinary common sense and a business training and ability, the use of which could not fail to be a municipal asset. In his service he was painstaking and conscientious and showed himself imbued with the proper municipal spirit. The vote of thanks passed by the council was more than a formality. It was something the retiring commissioner deserved.

FARMERS' CANDIDATE DEVELOPS GREAT STRENGTH

The unexpected strength of Jackson, the farmers' candidate in the Victoria riding, indicates that the day is by no means distant when the farmers of the west will be a live force in the political affairs of the province and the dominion.

Jackman comes into the fight without the backing of either of the great historic parties. He has not the advantage of the patronage of the dominant party as has his opponent, "Nobby" White, and he has not access to the campaign barrel of the anti-reciprocity gang as has his opponent Morrison. But he has the advantage of not being branded as a professional politician and he has access to the sympathies of the farmers of his constituency by having proven himself possessed of all the hopes and aspirations which inspire the tillers of the soil, the expression of which is found in the farmers' organizations and their fight for a more democratic control of the affairs of the province and the nation.

Western Canada is in many respects in the same position today as Oregon was ten years ago, when Uren and Bourne went out to wrest the control of the state from the politicians through the medium of direct legislation. Uren's start was not even as illustrious as Jackman's, but with the unqualified support of the farmers as a weapon he succeeded in clubbing the politicians into submission, taking the government of that state out of the hands of party politicians and placing it where it belonged, in the hands of the people through direct legislation.

If Jackman continues gathering strength in the next ten days as he has done in the last 30 he may be the Uren of Western Canada.

It's a Good Old World, and Human Nature Is NOT "Just What It Was a Thousand Odd Years Ago."

Scarcely 100 Years Ago Insanity Was Regarded as a Disgrace
—Today Insanity Is Known to Be a Disease, the Result of Wrong Methods of Life

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Whenver I hear people talking about this world's wickedness and sadness, saying that human nature is just what it was a thousand and odd years ago, and there is no improvement in the character of the race, I feel an intense wave of pity for the speaker pass over me.

It shows such ignorance, such a lack of observation of the world, and of understanding of life as it is revealed to those who study it.

Take the condition of the insane, for instance. Hidden in Dungeons Years Ago. Scarcely one hundred years ago, insanity was regarded as a disgrace and as an evidence of entertaining devils. Mad people were held on away in dungeons; they were chained in dark cells, and for hundreds of years they were beaten and brutally treated, with the idea of driving out the demons.

Today insanity is known to be a disease, the result of wrong methods of life, of ignorance of the laws of nature, of wrong thinking and eating and drinking and exercising.

Today, skilled physicians and metaphysicians devote their lives to the effort of healing and breaking the unfortunate victims of mental disorders; and just recently there has been organized in the state of Connecticut a new society for larger usefulness in this special line of helpfulness.

Compare the way in which this society which is described below, with the conditions surrounding the insane in any previous century; and then, with how ridiculous and ignorant are the statements made by pessimists, that human beings have not advanced morally with the progress of time.

Work of Connecticut Society. While the above society is the work of a social worker of wide experience, Miss Jessie L. Belyea (formerly in charge of the Bureau for the Charity Organization Society of New York City), the Connecticut Society for Mental Hygiene is now able to put into operation its plan for the prevention of nervous and mental disorders. This intensive social service work is carried on by the work of the Field Secretary, Miss Belyea, and the executive secretary, Clifford H. Belyea, either of whom may be consulted. In this they will co-operate with hospital physicians and other members of the medical profession who are interested in the development of the society's work.

To advise and assist in the prevention of nervous or mental disorders, or actually ill, to co-operate with the hospital in the work of caring for the insane, so that it may the sooner abandon the superstitions and ignorant belief that mental disease is a disgrace, and that continuance to a hospital for the insane stigmatizes the patient and his relatives. By other words: to impress upon the public that the insane are sick people, not criminals, and that they must be given the benefits of prompt and intelligent treatment if the many curable cases are not to be deprived of their rightful chance of recovery—that is the task in hand.

Toward these ends Mr. Belyea has been working for three years past, meanwhile doing personal social service work in his own home, and the benefits of prompt and intelligent treatment if the many curable cases are not to be deprived of their rightful chance of recovery—that is the task in hand.

Common Sense Wins Out of Insanity. The society, fortified by such a worker, now feels justified in the claim of effective equipment for the service outlined for it. At first, the chief work of the society is to be the education and the giving of advice to those who are nervously or mentally disturbed, and that they have friends in the same condition. Often common sense counsel and reassurance will ward off what would otherwise develop into mental disease. Here the society does not infringe on the province of the physician; it simply tries to help the family physician, or specialist, has not time and often not the opportunity to do.

In the help which is given to the treatment in hospitals, the society's social workers will act under the guidance of the physician, and will do such helpful co-operation it may often be possible to release patients earlier than might otherwise be done (thus relieving the pressure on overcrowded institutions without imposing any additional burden on the community).

Another important activity of the society, sometimes described as aftercare, will be the effort to adjust the discharged patient to the conditions which he returns, and the aiding of him and his friends with such counsel as may be given by a permanently useful member of society. Meanwhile it will be the constant effort of the workers, both medical and lay, to promote the mental hygiene of homes and communities, disseminating information which shall help to correct conditions and habits of life which so often produce mental disorders.

Correspondence and interviews are regarded as confidential, and such services as the society may render are given without cost to all, usually afflicts rich and poor alike, and experience proves that such advice as the society offers is as much needed by one class of people as another.

JOBS AS IS JOBS

By Sam Small, Jr.

(Interviews by airplane that might as well have been had, but were NOT.)

The reporter, circling above Washington, was attracted by an illumination like that of a blazing sun at the door of the White House. He depressed the planes of his machine and gracefully volplaned to earth, landing in the president's front yard. Tripping lightly up the White House steps, the reporter addressed the brilliant object:

"Mr. Major, how goes it?"
Major Archibald Williamson Glavering De Grandfather Bull, A. C. M. U. S. A., military aide to the president of the U. S., sometimes known as the human Christmas tree, for 'twas he, saluted precisely and made reply:

"Just a little busy, but otherwise O. K."

"Busy, Major?" queried the reporter.
"Oh, yes, quite so," he replied, "I'm rushing, rushing, rushing."

"That sounds good. The public is always interested in men as has jobs as is jobs. Would you kindly consent to an interview telling all about your job?"

"Nothing to do 'till tomorrow."

"Quite a lull, 'till tomorrow," replied the Major, but if he had consented to my interview no doubt it would have read like this:

"You see, I retire about midnight and sleep under two of the finest crazy work quilts that ever came out of dear old Georgia. At 5 a. m. I call me and I have my hat, my shave, my hair cut and shoe shine. Then I put on my morning jacket or lounge suit and have my breakfast of a rasher of bacon and some eggs. Then I stroll over to the White House and meet the president. 'At 11 o'clock I return to my quarters and check in my white shirt cuffs with the gold bars. Then I stroll back to the White House and have luncheon with the president. 'After luncheon I return to my quarters and change to my khaki uniform or riding lous. Then I stroll up to the White House on my charger and go for a ride with the president.

"Returning from the ride, I again visit my quarters and have another tub, massage, shave, hair-cut and a shoe-shine and do my full-dress uniform with the president for the evening. I drop in at a club or a reception, or maybe spend the evening with the fellows at the club."

"Outside of that, have you anything to do, Major?" asked the reporter.
The Major shook his head.
"And how do you like your job?"
"Well, I never did mind hard work."

The reporter sighed with the Major and left with such a heavy heart that the reporter started with, his eyes could still catch the glint of that enormous figure at the door of the White House which nobody could mistake for a veto.

Improved Submarine Is The Invention of a Russian Engineer

Hes Displacement Eight Times As Great As That of Previously Constructed Sub-Aquatic Craft—Capable of Making 14 Knots

(International News Service)
London, Sept. 12.—A submarine cruiser 100 feet long and displacing when submerged 591 tons has been designed by a Russian naval engineer named Shuravlev. The design is now being considered by the Russian government.

No submarine vessel yet built has a displacement of more than 700 tons and the 1,000-ton mark is just being reached in this country and in Germany with vessels laid down this year.

M. Shuravlev's design is really for a protected cruiser which can be submerged when required. Then steaming on the surface its displacement would be 1,500 tons, while engines capable of developing a maximum horse power of 18,000 would give an estimated speed of 25 knots.

14 Knots Under Water
The apparatus with which the vessel is fitted in the design would enable her to sink in three minutes, and when below the surface internal combustion motors of 4,100 h.p. would give a maximum speed of 14 knots. The fastest submarines yet built are the British vessels of the D class, which can make 16 knots on the surface and nine when submerged.

The submarine cruiser will be

REVIVAL OF OCCULTIST FAD IS FEATURE OF THIS YEAR'S LONDON SOCIETY SEASON

Smart Set of British Metropolis Are Obscured by Craze and Palmists and Spiritualists Pursue Their Profitable Calling

(Globe Cable Service)
London, Sept. 12.—The "Standard" says that a remarkable re-emergence of "occultism" has manifested itself in London society during the past few months. With the members of London society occultism has taken the form of a fad. During the entire season perhaps the most popular feature of the most fashionable gatherings was the palmist or "Egyptian fortune teller" seated for the evening to entertain the guests. This feature was found the surest way to draw a crowd, and when invitations were sent out the special character of the occasion was invariably mentioned as an extra inducement. At these functions it was not uncommon to find a long queue of distinguished persons waiting their turn to enter the booth of the rified one and learn what destiny held in reserve for them. Lectures on occultism and the mystic religions of the east were also quite popular attractions in many of the best houses in Mayfair and Belgrave, while the theory of the reincarnation contained an element of romance that made fashionable people eager to discover if they had another life in some previous stage of existence. Certain professional mystics made a specialty of this latest craze of occult knowledge, and it is even said that the calm assurance that a well-to-do young couple had met and loved in a previous past led to more than one marriage in high life.

There was one case where an engagement was mysteriously broken off without any apparent cause at the time. It became known later, however, that the young woman had consulted a palmist, only to be informed that the mystic humor of her fiancé's name did not harmonize with that of her own, and that instant disaster and great unhappiness in the future awaited her. Her fall in occultism being stronger than her own inclination or judgment, she promptly cancelled the betrothal.

MIDNIGHT BATHERS SHOCK MRS. GRINDY

VISITORS TO ENGLISH HEALTH RESORT SCANDALIZE THE ULTIMATE OLD LADY

(Globe Cable Service)
London, Sept. 12.—One result of the heat wave has been that midnight bathing, which has always had a number of adherents at popular seaside resorts during the summer months, has this year come into favor to an extraordinary extent. The high temperature and the calm sea have induced hundreds of visitors, of both sexes, who had never enjoyed the experience before, to indulge in the luxury of a midnight dip.

This has led to a certain number of strait-laced critics to question severely the propriety of mixed bathing after sunset. At Blackpool, which is, perhaps, nowadays, the most largely patronized seaside resort in the kingdom, the moral aspect of the new pastime is providing a topic for heated discussion.

At Blackpool the bathers were in use until midnight and later, and young ladies waded and paddled and dived themselves, under the stars without restraint. Greatly daring some of the ladies, staying at the boarding-houses on the promenade have got into their bathing clothes in the apartments, and splashed across the promenade to the water, returning from their midnight bath the same way. Very proper

REVISED VERSION 'JAP' AGREEMENT

DEPENDS ENTIRELY ON THIS TO PROTECT THE STAND SHE HAS TAKEN IN MANCHURIA

(Globe Cable Service)
Tokyo, Sept. 12.—The recent revision of the Anglo-Japanese agreement and its extension for a further term of years came with little surprise to Japan, though among the more observant and thoughtful it was not wholly unexpected. The revised version has been formally received with favor by the official classes as well as a large number of leading men, but expressions of satisfaction are not so unanimous among the rank and file of the nation, including some prominent jurists, publicists, and statesmen.

The deletion of the article obliging Great Britain to come to the assistance of Japan in the event of attack from a third party, except in case where Great Britain may not have entered into an arbitration treaty with such party, is looked upon by the Japanese as placing them completely at the mercy of the United States in regard to their future relations in China.

It is contended that Japan has been depending altogether upon this feature of the alliance for the security of her position in Manchuria, and now that this protection is withheld, the backbone of the alliance is broken. It may not be known in the West, but some time the opinion has been freely expressed in Japan that the nation's use of territory in China cannot be regarded as in exactly the same position as that of a person lease of property that can come to an end at a certain definite time. It is asserted territory leased by a nation, and involving a vast expenditure of money and the establishment of permanent interests, cannot be immediately abandoned at the moment the lease determines, and that in the trouble that is likely to arise with China in the settlement of this aspect of Japan's position in Manchuria, the United States may be expected to take the side of China, at which time, according to the new Anglo-Japanese agreement, Japan will have to stand alone and fight her own battles, her only hope being an alliance with Russia.

Alliance Unreliable
Professor Sulzro, of the Imperial University, Kyoto, expresses the conviction that as Great Britain could not be expected to take up arms against her nearest of kin for the sake of Japan, the alliance has to this extent, always been unreliable. Professor Sulzro thinks that in case Japan and the United States should have had to cross swords, England would most probably have taken the stand she took with Persia in 1856, which she refused to interfere with Russia's invasion of that country, though she had an agreement with Persia obliging her to assist Persia against a third party. Another prominent jurist avers that in the new agreement with Great Britain the United States gains most, England a little and that Japan loses to the extent that these two powers have gained.

Superstition and Commerce
Among the more aggressive opponents of the new agreement is the Hon. K. Goshima, a Nationalist member of the Imperial Diet, who thinks that the revision of the Anglo-Japanese alliance represents the complete diplomatic triumph for the United States over Japan. This politician says that for some time there has been a growing fear among the people of Great Britain that the relations between Japan and the United States might become so strained as to drag Great Britain into a defense of Japan against her own kith and kin, and as such a move would prove a most unpopular thing in England, the British government have been looking about for some means of obviating the possibility, and, therefore, grasped at the opportunity afforded by the arbitration treaty with the United States. Mr. Goshima seems to agree with those who say that secretly the Anglo-Japanese alliance was fostered by the influence of Germany with the hope of entangling Great Britain in the Far East and weakening her position at home, as well as turning American influence in the direction of Germany, and that Great Britain was only anxious to get herself right with the American people again.

Insurance against sickness is compulsory in Hungary for all persons employed in industrial undertakings and whose earnings do not exceed $500 a year.
Between eleven o'clock and midnight scores of bathers may be seen nightly between Martlesham terrace and Victoria Pier, and the majority of these are ladies, many of whom do the swim across the promenade without apology to the proprieties.

Making Interesting Wireless Experiments
Paris, Sept. 12.—Interesting experiments with wireless telegraphy from an aeroplane in flight have been carried out by Captain Drenot and Lieutenant Mardet, who on board a Farman biplane succeeded in transmitting messages to the Eiffel Tower from a distance of from 20 to 40 miles. Considerable difficulties had to be overcome before this result was achieved. It was not so much the weight of the apparatus, which has been reduced to 20 lbs., but the difficulty and danger of the pilot in guiding his machine at a great altitude (1,700 feet) when surrounded by live wires charged with electricity by the power of the motor and capable of giving a violent shock.

Harry Boyd was taken to the Macclesfield hospital about 7 o'clock last night from the Bon-Ton fruit store where he had been seized with a fit resulting from heart trouble.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM A PREMATURE FUNERAL

Men Thought to Have Been Gathered to Abraham's Bosom in Cemetery

(International News Service)
Rome, Sept. 12.—Particulars of an extraordinary case, which almost amounted to a premature burial, came from Palermo. The officials at the named Serafini, Lovino, aged 90 had died during the night at the Giardini Convent, and undertakers were immediately sent to make the funeral arrangements. A doctor left at the same time for the convent to verify the death and prepare the usual formal certificate. The surprise of the men knew no bounds, however, when the doctor, after a close examination, declared that the body was merely in a comatose state, probably as the result of a cataplectic seizure, and ordered the "corpse" to be instantly removed from the Giardini Convent. Of course, all the preparations for the funeral were speedily cancelled, and with suitable medical treatment the man was soon restored to her normal condition.

CHRISTIANA RIOT STATUE UNVEILED

MARKS SPOT WHERE BLOODY BATTLE, TO REGAIN SLAVES, WAS FOUGHT

(Union Press Service.)
Lancaster, Pa., Sept. 12.—With appropriate exercises and in the presence of a large crowd of visitors from many parts of the state the monument was unveiled today which the Lancaster Historical society had erected at Christiansburg, in the eastern part of this county, to mark the site of the old log cabin around which, sixty years ago, raged the "Christiana Riot," one of the most famous and bloody conflicts between slavery and anti-slavery elements before the civil war.

The Christiansburg was the only growth of an attempt by a Maryland slaveholder to regain possession of four runaway slaves. The negroes, who were claimed by Edward Gorsuch as his property, crossed the Susquehanna river at the Columbia bridge and, by means of the famous underground railroad were spirited to the eastern border of the county, where they were detained until arrangements could be made for their transportation further north.

A negro tavernkeeper in Philadelphia learned that warrants had been issued for the arrest of the Gorsuch slaves and hurried to Christiansburg to give the alarm. When the party, consisting of Marshall Kline, Edward Gorsuch, Dickson Gorsuch, his son, Dr. Thomas

Pearce, a nephew, Joshua Gorsuch, and two hired assistants, arrived with their warrants at Christiansburg on the morning of September 11, 1851, the fugitives, who were sheltered in the cabin of a negro named Parker, were prepared for them.

Marshall Kline and Edward Gorsuch battered down the door of the cabin and asked the slaves, hidden in the attic, to surrender. The negroes refused to surrender and his warrants were read to them. About this time (Gather Hargray and Elijah Lewis, two white residents, known for their strong anti-slavery ideas, appeared upon the scene. They were called upon by the marshal to assist in capturing the slaves, but positively refused to lend their hand.

When the marshal's party attempted to storm the attic, the negroes fired and Edward Gorsuch was killed. John Dickinson Gorsuch and Dr. Pearce were wounded. Noting that the cabin was surrounded by armed negroes, Marshall Kline gave up the attempt to capture the slaves.

The Federal authorities promptly took steps to prosecute the rioters. All the negroes who participated in the riot were arrested, together with several white men, including Hargray, Lewis and Joseph Scott. They were taken to Philadelphia and there tried on the charge of treason. The trial lasted fifteen days and, although the presiding judges, Chief Justice and Name, were strong pro-slavery men, the jury acquitted the prisoners. What had happened to the slaves, however, was the presence at the unveiling of Peter Wood, a negro who, as a boy, took part in the riot, armed with a gun cutter. The family of Edward Gorsuch was also represented.

EAGLE TAKES HAT FROM PEDAGOGUE

AND SCHOOLMASTER IS NOT YET
CERTAIN IF BIRD ATTEMPTED TO KIDNAP HIM

(International News Service.)
London, Sept. 12.—A schoolmaster from Paris, who is spending his vacation near the Lake of Annecy, has had a great fright. An eagle stole his hat, and he does not yet know whether it was his cap or a piece of his own flesh that the eagle wanted.

The schoolmaster was returning on his bicycle from an excursion, when he suddenly felt a heavy blow on his head, as if he had been struck with a club. It stunned him for a while, and he could not make out whether the blow had come until he saw some people a little distance away, looking up at the sky. He looked up, too, and saw an eagle circling in the air only about fifty yards above his head, and carrying his cap in its claws. There was no doubt now that the eagle had swooped down and carried off the cap. The schoolmaster was thoroughly frightened, and got back on his bicycle to return to Annecy as fast as he could. But the eagle, in pouncing down upon him, intended to carry off his entire body, and was the bird of prey deceivingly only a cap? The whole thing is a mystery that still makes the schoolmaster shudder. The eagle stuck to the cap, which he had carried away, but there must have been some disappointment when he tried to make a meal of it.

AMERICANS BUY BOGUS PICTURES

"ART CRITICS" ARE EASY MONEY
FOR DEALERS IN IMITATIONS
FROM MASTERS

(International News Service.)
Paris, Sept. 12.—Interviewed the other day on bogus picture collectors M. Henri Hochet, as good an expert as any on the question said to the Journalist, "Six days, my friend, not a day a good story. It happened quite recently, too. Rushing in one day, an American begged me to sell what I thought of the pictures he had just bought."

"They are here at your door," he said. "I brought them along in a cab."

"They were carried into the room," he went on, "by two men, Harpignies, Harpignies, Harpignies."

"The Harpignies are false," I said. "The Harpignies are Harpignies ditto. The American was Harpignies-ditto. He said they had cost him $168,000."

"Then," I said, "let us leave the Harpignies and the Harpignies aside. These masters are dead, but Harpignies is not. Harpignies is a man from me. Ask him yourself if he signed these pictures." My American disappeared.

"I never heard from him again, but I got a letter from Harpignies some days later. He said: 'My dear friend if I were not 92 years of age, I would have sent you my seconds for sending that American to me to ask me if those worthless duhns were mine.—Yours, Henri Harpignies.'

BUSY WEEK FOR RIVAL LEADERS.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 12.—With but one full week to run before the day of election, the political campaign in the Dominion will be carried forward with a rush during the ensuing seven days. Both parties have prepared to put on a valuable speaker in the field. The Liberal standard bearer, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, will put in the week in Quebec. Mr. Borden, the opposition leader, will continue his campaign in Nova Scotia.

Although in nominal retirement, as the result of his being defeated at the recent Presidential election by Manuel Arriaga, Theophile Bragg, the former Provisional President, is said to be still active in the affairs of the republic, sort of "power behind the throne."

New rumors of Royall's plots are being heard daily, and the problems confronting President Arriaga are said to be too difficult for him—an inexperienced official—to deal with, and accordingly he is accepting the aid of his predecessor in power.

DOUBLE-BARRALED SENATE FIGHT

(Union Press Service.)
Richmond, Va., Sept. 12.—A democratic primary election is to be held throughout Virginia today for the nomination of two United States senators, members of the legislature and county officials. The campaign has been one of the quietest that the Old Dominion has seen in years. Even the senatorial contests have failed to arouse the usual amount of interest and enthusiasm, although the interest has increased to a noticeable extent during the closing days of the campaign.

Senator Claude A. Swanson, who was appointed to fill out the term of the late Senator Daniel, which ended with the close of the last session, is a candidate for reelection to the full six-year term. Senator Thomas S. Martin, whose term will not expire until 1912, but whose successor will be chosen by the legislature to be elected this fall, is a candidate for reelection. Senator Swanson is opposed for the nomination by Representative Carter Glass of the sixth district. Senator Martin's opponent is Representative Jones of the first district. The general opinion seems to be that both Swanson and Martin will win out in the primaries.

TO FIGHT ROGER SULLIVAN

(Union Press Service.)
Chicago, Ill., Sept. 12.—The unveiling of Roger L. Sullivan, the Illinois member of the Democratic National committee and for many years the acknowledged master of the party in the state, is the object sought by a number of more or less prominent democratic leaders throughout the state, who assembled at the Hotel La Salle today to discuss a plan of campaign. The conference was called by the state Progressive Democracy, an organization which seeks the support of all democrats who, in the language of the official call "are disgusted with the trend of their party affairs and the bipartisan affiliation which characterized the election of William Lorimer as United States senator from Illinois."

Mayor Carter Harrison is said to be at the head of the movement. Following the preliminary conference today it is proposed to hold a great rally of progressive democrats at the state fair at Springfield next month.

BOWLERS ARE GOING TO REORGANIZE FOR COMING WINTER

Players Talk About Prospects for Next Winter—Meeting Will Be Held

And in the absence of something to occupy their attention the bowlers are beginning to talk. Down in one of the alley halls last night a bunch of the rollers talked over the prospects for this coming winter. The re-organization meeting is going to be held soon but the date has not yet been decided upon. Nearly all the players who were in the city last year are still here and will be on the boards this winter, and there is said to be many new men in the city.

A new draw will be made probably at the organization meeting and the teams lined up in their new divisions. Play will start almost immediately after the league is re-organized.

FIRST RUGBY GAME OF SEASON TO BE PLAYED SAT.

Eskimos and Y. M. C. A. Will Fight Their First Battle on Saturday.

The first flingy match of the season will be played on Saturday when the Eskimos meet the Y. M. C. A. in a practice game. It will be played on Diamond park and will be a good work out for both teams. Eskimos' trying for a place on the Eskimos should be out this evening for practice. The crowd that has been seen at the games is much smaller than it should have been and the reason, in spite of this discouraging condition is making a good team from the material he has. As it is, the team will be stronger than last year, but if all the available material turns out to practice it will be so much stronger that there will be no comparison. The Y. M. C. A. have a strong organization and should make a great fight with the Eskimos for the city championship.

BIG FOUR RUGBY LEAGUE TO SHOW MORE CLASS THIS YEAR

Prospects in the Big Ontario Football Organization Are Brighter Than Ever They Were—Collegians Have Shown the Way to Good Ball

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Notwithstanding the passing of a few earlier veterans this fall, interprovincial football will be beyond all doubt show a much improved standard over 1910 and preceding years. The absorption of several intercollegiate graduates, together with youngsters, will alter the style of play formerly in vogue in the Big Four and introduce a faster and snappier game by natural channels.

College Ball Leads
One of the greatest improvements will come by comparison. College football has shown the way to the city game for two years or more, and the time has arrived when the interprovincial must discard old time methods and adopt the up-to-date tactics employed by the student teams in the intercollegiate. In addition, Toronto Varsity, early McGill or Queen's could have beaten any one of the Big Four teams last year. Hamilton Tigers played better football in the Dominion final than at any time during the interprovincial schedule, but they were outclassed by Varsity right in the Amateurs' City.

Varsity Showed the Way
The time and while youngsters gave first evidence of the superiority of the student game in 1909, when they turned Ottawa upside down and trounced the Big Four champions of that year soundly and unmercifully. Interprovincial followers even then could not see the closest between the student and the city game. Varsity, however, made it clear as daylight last year in Hamilton and now the increasing number of V. P. R. U. supporters admit their teams are short of the college game. Stereotype Style Must Go.

Competition is as helpful in sport as in business, and the Big Four must vie with the intercollegiate for premier honors just as the National and American leagues do in baseball. The stereotyped plays in the city game must go. It has been considered little short of suicide among interprovincial coaches to pass or kick the ball from behind the line. Varsity's halfbacks would never hesitate for a minute to do either if there was the slightest chance of preventing a point being scored. Passing the ball over the head of an opponent at close quarters is so seldom seen in the Big Four, such cases can not be recalled. In the final at Hamilton Varsity tossed the ball to each other with Tiger players hovering by thick as bees, and the students kept it going like a game of bean bag. Little short snuffs of this character in a broken field gave them eight and ten yards or every scrimmage.

Doing the Unexpected
Two things players and a kick is the common custom in the interprovincial. Unless the side in possession has a safe of wind behind them there is no other choice but to boot the cow's own city game. The various managements of the Big Four teams themselves looked in their style of play, and may be expected to introduce several new varieties hereafter upon their respective sides. A lot of energy and a good practical system of coaching should bring the standard of interprovincial football up to that of the intercollegiate, for the former, if anything, has better material physically to work upon than the student league.

TO PRESENT MEDALS TO WINNERS OF CITY SOCCER LEAGUE

Senior Champions Will Get Gold Medals While Intermediates Get Silver

At a meeting of the Edmonton Football Association in the Y. M. C. A. last night it was decided that the winners of the senior and intermediate championships should receive gold and silver medals. The players on the Swift team will receive gold medals and the Strathcona Y. M. C. A. men will get silver ones for the intermediate championship.

The meeting considered that the season had been a most successful one, interest had been high all the time and the games had been fairly well contested. Prospects for next year look the brightest. The team will probably be reorganized on the same division as this year and probably the same teams will be playing.

"NO MR. MURPHY, WE WON'T DO WHAT YOU SAY!"

Special Meeting of N.L.U. Rescinds President Murphy's Decision—Play Privately

Montreal, Sept. 13.—The special meeting of the National Lacrosse union tonight rescinded the decision of President Murphy in regard to the replaying of the interrupted Montreal-National Labor day match. The meeting ordered that the five and a half minutes undisplayed time be played out in the city game. Murphy's Thursday at 5 o'clock and that no spectators be admitted. "Pete Murphy and Jim Cavendish will be the officials as Billy McIntyre who officiated at the latter day game is unable to be present, owing to his duties in connection with the Ottawa fair. All the clubs with the exception of the Nationals voted against the ruling of President Murphy.

CORINTHIAN GAME CANCELLED

Cleveland, O., Sept. 13.—The Corinthian football match, billed here to play last night, was being postponed to come to terms. Game was cancelled.

Students Make Opportunities
The four football teams which rely on the college for their main reliance is placed on the other fellows' mistakes. In other words, the teams of that union wait for opportunity. College teams make their own opportunities and take advantage of opportunities left in addition. No student would stand over a loose ball behind his line waiting to claim yards as Ottawa did against Argonauts last year, and have the chance to see a man run up on-side and another try for a touch-down.

Big Four Lacks Interest
Quite a few of last year's intercollegiate stars will wear uniforms of the other union this fall, and their presence will mark an improvement in the city game. The various managements of the Big Four teams themselves looked in their style of play, and may be expected to introduce several new varieties hereafter upon their respective sides. A lot of energy and a good practical system of coaching should bring the standard of interprovincial football up to that of the intercollegiate, for the former, if anything, has better material physically to work upon than the student league.

ST. LEGER WEEK TO OPEN.
Doncaster, Eng., Sept. 13.—The racing opened today on the famous heath, the usual racing ground being swelled by a large number of Yorkshire "Tykes" who make their annual outing in the St. Leger week, the last of the classic races being run Wednesday.

J. B. Joel was, to some extent, compensated for the scratching of his Derby winner from the St. Leger by the victory of the colt's own brother, White Star, in the Champagne stakes, one of the most important two-year-old events of the season. White Star was a warm favorite at 5 to 1. Melody at ten to one was second, and Jangle Gordon, 11 to 1, third. The race is worth over $1,500 to the winner and is run over five furlongs, 152 yards. The great Yorkshire handicapper of 81 days, one mile six furlongs, resulted in a dead heat between Typhoon at 9 to 1, and Redon, 5 to 1. Garde du Bois, 5 to 1, being third, 4 to 1, being the only starters.

CALGARY CALLIES TO PLAY GAME IN EDMONTON LATER

Alix to Play Here Thursday and Winners to Play Home and Home Series

The Calgary Callies will play in Edmonton. The game on Monday night will not be the last of the season as was thought for the Provincial championship will be decided by home and home games. In the meantime Alix, champions of their section of the province, are going to play Edmonton in Edmonton tomorrow and the winners who it is a foregone conclusion will be the swift team will then arrange the home and home series for the championship.

FALL RACE MEET AT LEXINGTON
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 13.—The 70th season of racing in the Blue Grass state will open at the Kentucky association track here tomorrow under auspicious conditions. MORE SETTLERS IF RECIPROCITY PASSES

PROMINENT LAND MAN DECLARES ENDORSEMENT OF FACT WILL AFFECT IMMIGRATION

According to C. E. Walker of the United States Farm Land Company of St. Paul, a corporation which is offering for sale something in the neighborhood of 200,000 acres of Western Canadian farm lands, the passing of the reciprocity agreement will mean that three American settlers will come to Canada where one is coming today. "During the past 30 days," said Mr. Walker, "I have travelled among thousands of miles through the Western States. Everywhere the people enquire about the chances for reciprocity being adopted by Canada. They say: 'If the agreement is carried through, we are going to that country to invest our money and engage in farming. If it fails we will stay at home.'"

Practically every land company with Western Canadian farms for sale is strongly in favor of reciprocity. Mr. Walker continued, "because they know that it will mean an increase in the value of Canadian farm lands. American settlers will come to this country when it is passed with no restrictions whatever. They will be permitted to bring their settlers' effects and all their horses and cattle without paying any duty. They will feel that the reciprocity is taken away that has always operated against free entrance to Canada from the States."

Mr. Walker spoke of the contention of opponents of the measure, that reciprocity would tend to bring down the price of stock of all kinds in Canada as a result of the elimination of a duty on stock from the United States. He pointed out that development of Canada's unoccupied farm lands would require a sufficient number of horses to insure the best market for them here for many years to come, in spite of all that might be shipped in from the United States.

During the past week the company in which Mr. Walker is interested sold to John Baxter of Watertown, South Dakota, a block of 2000 acres of land north of Lipton on the main line of the C. P. R. It is the intention of Mr. Baxter, who represents the Myers Canadian Land and Investment Company, to colonize this land with settlers from the Western States.

Negotiations are now in progress for the sale of a 9,000-acre block of land south of Lely to another party of South Dakota men. This land also will be colonized and the prospective purchasers are anxious that reciprocity should go through because they know that with the agreement in force it will be easier to get American settlers to come to the land.
